Max Hart, Good American No More Hoods As the Angel Writes Lindbergh, Inventor

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, Star Co.

THE DEATH of Max Hart, victim of pneumonia, ends a career honorable, and useful to this country.

Brought to America as a child from Germany, with his brother, Harry Hart, who survives him, the two brothers began working in childhood and have worked ever since without cessation.

Only a few days ago this writer talked with Max Hart in Chicago, asking why he continued long working hours at 75 years of age, with a fortune accumulated.

"I work," said Max Hart, "because I like work, and because my associates and I, in doing work that we need not do, provide work for thousands of others that do need work, and encourage young men starting in business for themselves."

Max Hart was a good American.

The imperial wizard, Hiram W. Evans, says Knights of the Ku Klux Klan will wear masks no longer, and will be known as "Knights of the Great Forest."

That concession to public opinion may mean great dwindling away of the formerly hooded brotherhood.

You lose your influence when you appeal to men's common sense instead of appealing to their fear of the mysterious.

As Gabriel writes down every minute of each day all that happens, what events seem important to his celestial mind?

A woman who had foolishly drawn $9,000 from the bank and told a man about it was drugged, soaked with gasoline, and burned alive.

In Pittsburgh a man and woman danced 61 hours and 55 minutes without stopping.

Over the Imperial Valley in California a zenith albatross plane was trying to stay up in the air longer than any plane had ever stayed.

Bert Hinkler, Australia's "lone eagle" won five air records in a fifteen and a half day flight from England to Australia.

He has the one-man flight distance record, the first non-stop London to Rome flight, the record for speed from England to India, and from England to Australia.

He spent $250 for gasoline, half the price of a first class passage by steamer.

Secretary Hoover tells Senator Borah he believes in keeping the eighteenth amendment. A President is bound by his oath to sincere enforcement of laws enacted thereunder.

Senator Reed of Missouri, also questioned about prohibition, says the Democratic party has more important things to think about.

READING 'SUCCUMBED,' SAID 'YES' INSTEAD OF 'NO,' ASSERTS FULLER

Atty.-Gen. Arthur K. Reading succumbed to "influence," Governor Fuller declared today before a women's organization in Everett, making his first public utterance in the case.

The attorney-general was on his way from the State House to the same spot, the annual mid-winter session of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, when Governor Fuller broke his silence to comment briefly on the Reading-Jacimo club affair.

"Public officials are human," said Governor Fuller. "Water will wear away stone. It is easier to say yes than no when somebody is at your door urging yes. The Attorney-General has just succumbed to the influence."

Reading, himself, facing impeachment proceedings if he does not resign before Monday noon, asserted today that he will hold his post and will fight impeachment. When the Attorney-General rose to address the women in Everett, he announced

HEFLIN RAPS FULLER ON 'SMITH AND CATHOLICS'

Washington, Feb. 24 (INS)—A slashing attack on Governor Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts for "aiding" the Democrats to nominate Al Smith was made in the Senate today by Senator Heflin of Alabama. "Governor Fuller," the Alabaman charged, "is under the hypnotic influence of the Roman Catholic machine," induced by the fact "his wife is a Roman Catholic."

Both Massachusetts Senators, Gillett and Walsh, came to Governor Fuller's defense.

Walsh described the Governor as "a truly acceptable, a very able and a very progressive public servant."

SOCIETY MAN SOUGHT AS JERSEY 'TORCH SLAYER'

New York, Feb. 24—New York detectives and New Jersey troopers today planned to reach into a circle of financially and socially prominent New Yorkers and arrest the slayer of Miss Margaret Brown, who was burned to death near Bernardsville, N. J.

The suspect's arrest is expected to cause a sensation, it is said.

Police say they know who the killer is and have him under surveillance. The only door of escape, they believe, is the quick suicide at which he hinted in a letter to police yesterday in which he returned bonds belonging to the slain woman.

Captain John Lamb, in charge of troopers aiding in investigation of the crime, would not reveal the name of the murder suspect.

He explained that because of the man's social standing the police would check up every angle of their

Providence, Feb. 24 (AP)—Trial of a $200,000 breach of promise suit brought against Edwin F. Cary, real estate man, by Mrs. Grace L. Sanctuary, also of this city, opened today in Superior Court. Mrs. Sanctuary, who was divorced in 1924, alleges Cary promised to marry her in January, 1925, and that arrangements had been made for a four months' honeymoon trip around the world. In that month, however, Mrs. Sanctuary claims, Cary left on an extended trip and did not return until April, then ordered her to vacate the Bordeaux apartments, owned by him, and she left.

MAN NEAR DEATH AFTER FIST FIGHT IN B. A. A.

While Ralph C. Worth, 24, of Melrose, a B. A. A. employe, hovers between life and death at City Hospital, police are investigating the incidents which led to his alleged fight with another employe in the bathroom of the institution.

Worth, after being taken to the hospital in a taxicab by a friend, was found to be suffering from a fractured skull, possible fracture of the jaw, and cuts about the forehead. His name was placed on the danger list.

Police learned that all members had left the premises of the clubhouse and that none but Worth and his opponent remained in the shower room. An engineer said he heard sounds of loud and angry voices and upon investigation found

THIEF GRABS $2750 RUG IS CAPTURED IN CHASE

A foot race between Traffic Officer John Manning and an alleged rug thief stirred shoppers at Boylston and Berkeley sts., Back Bay, today, ending in the recovery of a rug valued at $2750. The captive gave two fictitious names before he was confronted with fingerprints and finally admitted he was Vincent Baird of South Boston.

Officer Manning was attracted by an excited clerk of the Louis Joseph rug store in Boylston st., who pointed out the man with the rug under his arm. Baird is said to have sighted the officer at the same time and the race was on. The run was short, but attracted hundreds of excited shoppers.

FATHER RESCUES SIX AT BLAZE IN WEST END

Awakened today by clouds of smoke from the burning rag shop which adjoined his tenement, Joseph Maizer of Wall street, West End, aroused his sleeping wife and five children who were showing signs of suffocation and carried them to the street and safety.

The smoke poured through to the Maizer tenement from the fire at 8 Cushman avenue, a three-story brick building occupied by Harris Tarlin, a rag dealer. Before the fire was discovered by a passerby, the smoke filled the rooms occupied by Maizer and his family.

Upon arrival of the fire apparatus, District Chief J. J. Kelley ordered ladders placed against the tenement in the belief that other families had been trapped by smoke. The precaution proved to be unnecessary because Maizer and his family were the sole occupants of the five-story building.

The fire was caused by spontaneous combustion, according to the police, and damage to the building and stock was placed at approximately $3,000.

FIRE UP, MATES! COLD WAVE IS DUE TONIGHT!

Tumbling the mercury 70 to 80 degrees through the late night, today was slowly sweeping over the eastern section of the United States, as it took 15 States in the Montana the icy fingers of cold from 14 above, St. Louis and Louisville to 16 above and had pushed on to New York at 36 degrees Fahrenheit, chilled Cincinnati at 30 below zero, and had pushed across the New York and Pennsylvania borders at dawn.

that he had changed his subject from "Law Enforcement" and would speak on the topic, "Women." He touched in no way upon the affairs of his office.

Before leaving the State House he refused to look at a statement issued by Representative Martin Hays of Brighton, titular leader of the House, chairman of the House committee on judiciary and member of the house committee on rules, calling for a "house cleaning" in the attorney general's office and suggesting a successor in the post.

"I will say nothing and say nothing," declared Reading.

A bit earlier in the day on his arrival at the State House, he was questioned relative to the report of contemplated resignation.

"I am trying to keep an even mind," the attorney-general responded. "I have read none of the newspapers. But you know what Mark Twain said, 'The report of my death is greatly exaggerated.' I shall pursue the even tenor of my way, ate ding to my duties."

It was before Representative Hays and other members of the House rules committee that the Sawyer resolution was heard yesterday, resulting in startling admissions by Reading in connection with the Decimo Club affair.

CRISIS DUE MONDAY.

Hays' statement today, naming Attorney Wiggin, personal counsel to Governor Fuller during the Sacco-Vanzetti case review, said:

"It is obvious that there must be and will be a house-cleaning in the office of the attorney-general of the Commonwealth.

"The requirements for the office call for a profound legal training and knowledge and for a lawyer in whom the Governor and Legislature and the general public have implicit confidence.

"In my opinion Joseph Wiggin of Malden meets the ideals and traditions of that high office and of the present situation. While it may seem a financial sacrifice, the fair name of Massachusetts requires and deserves his services. The Legislature should draft him for attorney-general."

Representative Hays explained that a vacancy in the attorney-general's office can be filled by appointment by the Governor when the Legislature is not in session. When the Legislature is in session, however, both houses meet and select a successor by ballot.

HOW TO IMPEACH ONE.

Reading has been given until noon Monday either to resign or face impeachment proceedings.

Beacon Hill, already thrown into a turmoil when Hugh J. Monjar, former president of the Decimo Club, Inc., a business club, was charged in New York Supreme Court that Reading had received a retainer of $25,000 from the club at just about the time he had given the club a clean bill of health, was further amazed when Reading admitted that he had received this money, and that it was paid to him through a third party.

While Governor Fuller has not yet committed himself on the question of Reading's reelection, the sum of opinion in him at the State House believe that he will demand his resignation if the attorney-general does not tender it voluntarily.

Impeachment proceedings against a State officer, and the filling of vacancies due to any cause in the office of Attorney-General, are laid down in these sections of the Constitution of the State in the rearranged version:

Article 56. "The House of Representatives shall be the grand inquest of this Commonwealth; and all impeachments made by them shall be heard and tried by the Senate."

Article 61. "The Senate shall be the court with full authority to try and determine all impeachments made by the House of Representatives, against any officer or officers of the Commonwealth, for misconduct and maladministration in their offices.

"But previous to the trial of every impeachment, the members of the Senate shall respectively be sworn, truly and impartially to try and determine the charge in question, according to evidence. Their judgment, however, shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold or enjoy any place of honor, trust, or profit, under the Commonwealth; but the party so convicted shall be, nevertheless, liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to the laws of the land."

TO FILL VACANCIES

Article 138 relates to filling the office of Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor and Attorney-General by election, choice of the House and Senate and by appointment.

It provides in part that in case any one of those offices becomes vacant "from any cause" during an annual or special session of the General Court, the Senators and Representatives "by joint ballot" and "in one room," shall fill the office "by choice for the people at large."

If the vacancy occurs at any other time (when the Legislature is not in session), it "shall be supplied by the Governor by appointment, with the advice and consent of the council."

ARTIST CLARK FAY'S WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE

FULLER CONFERS WITH EX-ATTY.-GEN. ALLEN

HEFLIN SCORES GOV. FULLER

"His wife may be a Roman Catholic," Walsh continued, "but I know that she is a lady of the very highest rank and possessed of estimable qualities."

Heflin declared that "Fuller has more money than he has sense."

"History is full of instances," said Heflin, "where Roman Catholic wives have influenced the course of governments."

He said he was "taking this occasion to show the concerning link between the things taken at me by Protestant gentlemen and the Roman Catholic machine which inspires those attacks."

Fuller, he said, also urged the nomination of Herbert Hoover by the Republicans, "but merely mentioned Hoover to lead up to what he was told to say about the Tammany candidate, Alfred Smith."

THREE KILLED, 11 INJURED, BY GAS FUMES

Hospital and at the same hospital are Mr. and Mrs. John McNiff and their six-months-old baby.

The crying of the baby, the heroism of McNiff and the quick wit of Miss Elna Jackson, telephone operator who summoned aid, prevented a more serious tragedy.

The house in Ocean terrace was occupied by Mrs. Shanahan and they McNiff families on the first and second floors and by Miss Callahan on the top floor. Awakened by the baby's cries, McNiff smelled gas and ran to arouse the others.

He found his wife and the other two women already unconscious. With his own strength waning he staggered to a telephone and stumbled for aid. Miss Jackson at the Central exchange called police, the hospital and the gas company.

Police Sergt. Charles Duggan, Patrolman Arthur Whitman and Dr. Albert Conover were overcome while trying to revive the victims, but they resumed their work when they recovered. Patrolman Joseph Coyne also played an important role in the rescue.

HEATER FUMES FATAL

Carbon monoxide caused the death of Coyne and of his fellow-lodger in the house at 41 Joy street, West End, according to the police, who declared they went to sleep leaving a gas heater burning and with the windows shut tightly.

When Coyne failed to respond this morning to the knock of his landlady, Mrs. Mary Burns, she called her husband. They smashed in the door and found both men beyond help.

Dulong was spending the night with Coyne. He was identified by Mrs. Mary Richer, his landlady at 141 West Concord st., South End. Dulong was married and police are seeking his wife to notify her. Coyne was unmarried.

DUE TO BROKEN MAINS.

Two women and two men were overcome as they slept in the residence at No. 259 Newbury street, Back Bay, and this accident, like that in Lynn, was due to a broken gas main, the police reported.

The victims were Mrs. Mary Belanger, the owner; Angelique, a daughter, and two students, Richard Kearins and Malcolm Jordan. They were revived by Dr. C. G. Kepler of 362 Commonwealth ave., summoned by a passerby who had smelled the deadly fumes. A gas motor had to be sent for before all were revived.

Police investigation of the accident in Lynn and the Back Bay were ordered to ascertain the cause of the broken mains.

RECEIVER MAYBERRY WINS TAXI DECREE

Men and women crowded Supreme Court today when Judge Walt granted a decree in favor of Donald E. On account of the technical nature of the decree, Mayberry assigned Atty. Martin Witte to explain the procedure for liquidating claims.

inquiry concerning him before making the arrest.

The man is said to be a dope addict, according to New Jersey troopers.

They say his fondness for narcotics was engendered while he attended a college of medicine in Greater New York, and that he flunked out of the university while within sight of an M. D. degree.

"Within 24 hours he will be under arrest," Capt. John J. Lamb of Troop B, New Jersey state police declared today.

"The man who committed this crime is known to us. He's a man spoiled by dope. Lately he became so notorious about his sniffing of it that New Jersey police got to be pretty wise to him."

Broadway's bright places knew the man shortly after he dropped out of college, according to the New Jersey police. He was then known as a drinker, but later took to dope. The next stop was downward to the back alleys, where the confirmed addicts lurked.

In the letter he sent to the Bernardsville, N. J., police he admitted he drove to Newark after the crime. In fact the communication was postmarked Newark. The search in Newark and roadhouse resorts along the Irvington-Newark Turnpike is being conducted by more than a score of state police.

The slayer is an unskilled criminal and is in a remorseful frame of mind. He said so in his confession. If he adheres to the threat he made in his letter, he will commit suicide when arrest is imminent.

He is the owner of a blue sedan and he wrote the police that he "will drive it to hell"—if necessary—to escape.

The confession was mailed Tuesday, which would give the fugitive ample time to get a good start on the authorities if he has left Newark.

He said he met the governess in New York City, drove her to Lovers' Lane alongside Woodland Grove, a New Jersey hot dog park, and when she refused a marriage proposal, struck her on the head.

Thinking her dead, he poured gasoline on her unconscious form and put a match to it while she was still alive.

LINDBERGH NOW HAS APPLE TREE NAMED FOR HIM

Detroit, Feb. 24—Rest and seclusion at Selfridge field until late tonight or early tomorrow was the program today for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, here on a mystery mission said to involve the inauguration of a new air line.

The flying colonel is the guest of Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, commandant of the first pursuit group at Selfridge. Secrecy continues to envelop his plans, due to his insistence that he be kept out of the public eye.

Lindbergh called off another "mystery mission" hop scheduled for this morning and decided to remain quietly at the field.

On the way to the Ford airport yesterday Lindbergh and Lanphier landed their army pursuit planes in a field at Southfield and Eleven-Mile Roads when Lanphier's ignition failed. They were taken to Dearborn in an automobile after an apple tree near where they fell was named after Lindy.

When the party arrived at the Ford airport, cutting was offered a $5 bill. He refused it until the thought struck him that he could frame it as a memento of the unusual experience.

Newport, R. I., Feb. 24 (AP)—John J. The body was discovered by his wife. An autopsy was performed. Nine children and his wife survive. The act is attributed to worry over failing health.

Defense Stakes Its All — In Dramatic Plea — For Life of Buckley

LISTENING TO THE DEFENSE
These two views show the Buckley jury, once as it was listening to Ellsworth, and again as it heard George A. Loveland of the U. S. Weather Bureau explain the rainfall on fatal day.

May Yohe, the former Lady Francis Hope, one-time owner of the famous Hope diamond and darling of the stage, is seriously ill at her home, 61 Chelmsford st., Neponset, it was reported today.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL GUIDANCE REVIEWED

HELEN BRAGDON OF HARVARD IS SPEAKER

It seems unreasonable to conclude that the guidance problems in a large sixyear school are too great a task to trust to a few specialists, C. W. Hall, counselor, Collinwood high school, Cleveland, said today in the round table discussion at the convention of the National Vocational Guidance Association at Hotel Statler.

EXPERT COUNSELOR

He said that every teacher actually does guidance work, and it becomes the task of the school counselor to improve this guidance, directing and supplementing rather than trying to usurp for his own special practice what is properly the interest of the entire teaching profession.

Helen D. Bragdon, graduate student, Harvard Graduate School of Education, spoke on "An Analysis of the Process of Counseling." Miss Bragdon discussed its relation to guidance and outlined general situations that demand counseling.

"When we realize more clearly what counseling is," said Miss Bragdon, "its vital contribution to any guidance program—the importance of the general situations which de-

MARINES KILL 3, WOUND 5, IN NICARAGUA

Managua, Nic., Feb. 24 (AP)—Continuing their drive against scattered bands of rebels, American marines have killed three insurgents and wounded five. There were no marine casualties in the skirmish, which occurred near Telepaneca, 20 miles southeast of Ocotal.

The rebels were believed to be part of the scattered forces of Gen. Augustino Sandino. A marine patrol of 20 men under Lieut. John G. Walraven and a similar force of Nicaraguan national guards under Lieut. Donall McDonell participated in the encounter.

There are 1200 marines, in addition to several hundred national guardsmen operating north of Estell, while 1700 marines have established bases north of Somotillo and Matagalpa, where Sandino was active recently.

Many native newspapers are advocating a coalition candidate for the presidency of Nicaragua, upon whom all factions might be able to unite.

BORAH CONSIDERS PLAN TO STUMP OVER COUNTRY

'Yours Truly' Star Tries Journalism to Learn ⁓ There's More in Toads Than Hops

HOPS AFTER HOPS
Leon Errol, star in "Yours Truly" at the Majestic, farcing forth as a Boston Evening American reporter to learn something about toads after getting his assignment.

HITS ONLY WRONG KEYS
Having got his story, Errol learned there was nothing but errors on the typewriter they gave him to use in the Boston Evening American local news room. Every key he hit was something it shouldn't have been, and his story looked like typewriter "pi."

"SAY, A STAGE MAKEUP WAS NEVER LIKE THIS"
Because it was feared his "story" might give the composing room hydrophobia or something, Errol volunteered to himself "make up" on it—thinking doubtless that "making-up" on a newspaper was akin to "making up" in a dressing-room. He was sadly disillusioned when he got the type in bottom-side-up and criss-cross, too. Note the look of utter disgust with his job. In the excitement the paper got on the street without Errol's journalistic masterpiece.

However, Errol was thorough he insisted on oiling a press—being the first "reporter" to ever oil a press.

BUCKLEY'S COUNSEL FLAYED BY BUSHNELL

SAYS DEFENDANT'S ACTIONS PROVES HIS GUILT

men, not a government of laws, the chances are I would allow my son Buckley to set Buckley free," declared the district attorney, addressing the jurors.

He then stated that he had the power to nol pros any part of the indictment, but would not do so. "Let cases like this be a government of laws and not a government of men."

He attacked defense Atty. George I. Ellsworth bitterly for the latter's allegations that the Waltham police had tampered with and doctored statements made by Buckley.

"Any miserable rat that ever sneaked out of a sewer can make charges against the police and the police cannot answer them," he shouted. At one point in his argument, when he said he could hardly restrain his feelings on this matter, he turned squarely to the defense counsel and cried:

"And I fling these words in your face, sir."

MOTHER IN TEARS

Mrs. Marie Barry, mother of the dead girl, caused a stir in the crowded courtroom when she burst into tears when the district attorney regretted he could not bring Grace back to life.

But this clashes of opposing lawyers, recurring repeatedly during the arguments, furnished the thrills for the throng. The first of these came while Attorney Ellsworth was concluding his argument for the defense, Bushnell leaping to his feet to shout:

"Twice now he has made dirty accusations against the Waltham police and government. It is an attempt to distort the facts by subterfuge."

Dist. Atty. Bushnell launched his argument as soon as Ellsworth finished. He said, in part:

ONLY ONE ISSUE.

"We are trying only one issue—whether Buckley killed Grace Mills. It is easy to make charges against the police and accuse the government of hiding evidence.

"Any miserable rat that ever sneaked out of a sewer can do that.

"The district attorney is accused of being ambitious. My skin is thick enough by now, so that means nothing. The government is accused of being ambitious. Ambitious for what? To send a man to the electric chair?

"I have the power to nol pros any part of this indictment. But I have not the right to do so. No matter what my sympathies are, I cannot do it.

"How many times have we heard it said that this is a government of laws, not of men. Yes, we should have anarchy if it were not a government of laws. If it were just a government of men, the chances are I would allow my sympathy to influence me to use by power and set Buckley free.

"Now, as to the charges made by the defense attorney against the police—if any of you jurors believes that any Waltham policeman who testified here doctored Buckley's statements, we might as well close up shop right now.

"But I'll back Sergeant Duffy against the lawyer in this case as regards integrity.

"They can make all the charges they want against me and I'll defend myself. But the police cannot answer against them. I have tried policemen here for corruption and will probably try more, but 99 per cent of them are all right. To be accused of being the lowest, dirtiest creature you can conceive of—well, what do you think of that charge?

"If you believe Grace Mills shot herself or was shot by accident, let the defendant go. Oh, some of these lawyers, anxious to make a reputation for themselves at the risk of their clients' lives! I think this is the most unpleasant duty I have ever had, though I have tried many capital cases.

VICTIM IS GONE

"I am a human being myself and so is the judge and I get the same reaction that you do in trying this young man. But people forget the person who is dead. The victim is gone, the defendant is the hero. I know that when you retire to the jury room, some of you will be inclined to say, 'He's a young fellow, let's do what we can for him.

"If by some magic we could go to the grave of Grace Mills and she could arise, if the defendant could seize her by the hand and they could go away together in peace, why that is what we should all be happy to see.

"But I cannot bring Grace Mills into court. I cannot bring her back to life. Her voice is forever still. The moving finger writes and having writ, moves on."

Buckley's actions after the shooting proved his guilt, the District Attorney argued. He showed the jurors a picture of Grace Mills and asked them if it looked like the picture of a girl who would commit suicide.

The defense claim that the shooting occurred in Southboro, Worcester County, he called an "obvious, shallow trick, the last attempt to deceive court and jury." The shooting, he said, occurred in Pelham rd., Wayland, where the girl's hat and a piece or rubber from the floor mat of Buckley's automobile were found.

MOTIVE IMMATERIAL.

"It is immaterial what the motive was," he declared. "It is not necessary for the government to prove a motive. I don't care whether it was jealousy or a desire to possess Grace Mills that caused Buckley to shoot her.

"Look at what he did after the shooting. Judge by that whether he is innocent or guilty. Had he been innocent, he would have hurried to a police station, the body of the dead girl still warm, and told them it was an accident. If he had any chivalry at all, he would have hesitated to say she committed suicide.

"What a ride he actually took, driving for hours with the cold body of that pour little girl beside him. A thousand tongues accused him. A million eyes were upon him. What thoughts must have been in his head. What could he say, what could he do? Finally, in desperation, after that horrible ride, he shot himself.

"It was a vicious slander to brand that girl a suicide. I owe it to the public to remove that slander from the name of this sweet little girl, to remove the stain of suicide."

COUNSEL CLOSES.

Atty. Ellsworth, in his closing, accused the government and police of hiding evidence and charged the district attorney with using "bunk." His concluding words were: "I beseech you to free Foster Buckley."

"No wonder Buckley needed two shots of morphia that day at the Waltham Hospital," he said. "He needed drastic treatment after that scene with the police."

Atty. Ellsworth also argued that, even if the jurors should find a crime was committed in the shooting, they were bound to believe the testimony of two witnesses who told of finding some of Buckley's belongings in Southboro, Worcester county, and therefore free Buckley of the indictment charging murder in Middlesex county.

He argued, however, that there was no crime, that the defense had shown the girl shot herself and that the second shot was accidental. And he called attention to the fact that Buckley had not concealed the fact he had bought a gun.

FAMILY BEREAVED

"The family of Grace Mills are bereaved," he went on. "Yes, but Buckley is bereaved, too. All dear to him was gone when Grace Mills died. He did not think his world ending and that is why he tried suicide.

The love of Buckley for the girl and Grace Mills' love for him were again stressed by the defense attorney, who called the jurymen's attention to the dead girl's letters which were used during the trial to combat the government's claim that Buckley was jealous.

"Thank God we were able to produce those letters to protect this defendant," cried Attorney Ellsworth.

He then turned his guns on the prosecutor, repeating his previous assertion that the government had failed to establish any motive for murder, and making his charge of "bunk."

"The district attorney said he was unable to locate Herbert Smith, the friend of Buckley and the youth who knew so much about Buckley's affairs and plans," said the defense lawyer.

"That's what he told you in his opening address. Now, Smith was one of the most important witnesses in this case. Did I have any trouble finding him? I did not. The first question I asked Smith was where he had been living, and he told you jurors he had been staying right where he lived at the time of the shooting.

"Why, then, couldn't the district attorney find him? The reason is that he did not want to find Smith, and did not want to put Smith on the witness stand, any more than he wanted to put Lieut. Tracy of the Waltham police on the stand.

LOVED EACH OTHER.

"Such bunk!

"I am at a disadvantage because I do not know whether the district attorney is going to argue that there was a suicide pact or whether he is going to claim that Foster Buckley abducted Grace Mills and did away with her.

"Were Buckley and Grace in love with other? Can you jurors, with the widest stretch of your imaginations, believe they were not? They planned to elope for three years. They were engaged, and her parents knew it.

"Buckley had no rival in this girl's affections. There was no suggestion of a rival in all her letters to him, which you heard read here in this room."

HARMONY RULES EVACUATION DAY PARADE PLANS

George H. Johnson, director of public celebrations and Chief Marshal Timothy F. Maloney of the South Boston Evacuation Day committee held a conference at City Hall today and the days o peace hovered over the scene.

There were no harsh words, no raised voices, and at the conclusion of the conference both joined in saying they were working in harmony to make the March 17 celebration a success and neither had discovered any cause for resentment.

This meeting was a complete refutation of charges of friction between the Evacuation Day committee and Director Johnson, which were made at a meeting of the committee Tuesday night. Among other charges it was said that Johnson had invited organizations to parade thereby exceeding his permitives.

Chief Marshal Maloney said today there was no trouble over the question, as he himself was not in favor of parades in 31 organizations.

Catch Moonshiners 3rd Time Within a Week

North Revere moonshiners, apparently equally well equipped with both money and persistence, gave the police a surprise today, when stills were discovered in operation in two Marshall st. houses which were raided only a few days ago.

In the previous raids, one of which was made Sunday and the other Tuesday, the officers seized four 100-gallon stills, together with a quantity of sugar, liquor and a large amount of mash. Two arrests were made in the Sunday raid.

Today Inspectors Arthur Sweeney, John P. Starkey, Dominick Church, with Sergt. Cornelius F. Cronin and Motorcycle Officer Michael Driscoll, visited the houses again to see if anyone was about.

The officers charge they found two stills in each house, one functioning and the other set up ready for operation. The stills were all new, together with other paraphernalia, including a quantity of new containers and spring water carboys.

The police seized the stills and equipment, together with 100 gallons of mash and 10 gallons of moonshine, distilled from sugar, as to the stuff seized in the previous raids.

HORSE SHOT IN CHELSEA AFTER CRASH WITH AUTO

A horse was so badly injured that it had to be shot, and a man and woman were shaken up in a crash early in the morning at Chelsea. An automobile, which was driven by Miss Elizabeth R. Ropsett of Lexington and East Boston, according to the police, ran into the horse and team of Louis Epstein of Saltonstall, Malden. Epstein was injured in the street when the team tipped over.

TWO SAFES BLOWN IN NORTH CHELMSFORD

At the Crysler Mill about $50 was stolen, but there was no cash in the Moore Company safe. Hand drills were used to open both safes.

ARREST 2 BOYS IN BATTLE OVER REVERE GIRL

Two Revere High School boys engaged in settling their differences with their fists in Donnelly sq., Beachmont, today, egged on by a howling group of 50 fellow students, created more excitement than the business section of that community has witnessed for some time.

In response to frenzied telephone calls from business men and scared residents of the district, police rushed to the scene in the patrol and after driving away the throng of excited fans, took the battling youths into custody.

The boys, who are 14 and 15 years old, and whose names are withheld, are Burton Fleming and Arthur, who were booked on charges of mutual assault, and probably will appear in the juvenile session of Cambria Court next Thursday.

According to the police, the fight was not serious. Hostility may persist, but many cheering and body pounding followed as the pugilists squared off. Two girls were thrilling fan as Cindy and Jan were engaged and taken to the station. Four parents were notified and the boys were later permitted to go home.

HOOVER FAVORS SPLIT IN FLOOD RELIEF COST

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, made his second unsolicited appearance today before the Senate Flood Control Committee with a statement that he was in full accord with all the administration colleagues in the Senate.

Under questioning by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, he expressed the belief that the Federal government should bear the major part of the relief and state governments should bear the minor part, as a matter of economic consideration and economy in federal administration. At the same time he said that the matter of state or local relief was a matter for the state to determine.

Mr. Hoover indicated in a communication to Senator Jones, Republican, New Mexico, that he would not favor the appointment of a commission to investigate the Mississippi flood situation. Mr. Hoover said that he had been notified by the War Department that Major General Edward Jadwin, chief engineer, had just stated to public officials that adequate flood relief on a national scheme, under Hoover's plan, the whole plan would be assessed 20 per cent or more for the whole cost should be borne by the federal government.

"You have no right to draw the conclusion that because I said it is a national problem that I bound myself to any definite plan," Mr. Hoover replied. "The matter of contributions is as complicated as the problem of engineering."

HOOVER HASN'T STIRRED IRE OF WETS OR DRYS

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

Washington, Feb. 24 (INS)—Herbert Hoover appeared today to have accomplished the seeming miracle of stating his position on prohibition without mortality offending either the fanatical drys or the wringing wets.

Neither side is entirely satisfied, but neither is entirely disappointed.

The drys publicly professed themselves satisfied with Hoover's assertion that he did not favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and that he was in favor of the "efficient, vigorous and sincere" enforcement of all laws enacted thereunder.

The wets proclaimed themselves satisfied with the fact that Mr. Hoover conspicuously did not endorse the "divine wisdom" of the Volstead act, nor did he state, as Senator Borah insisted he must, in order that he would oppose its modification.

He pointedly ignored that part of the Borah questionnaire, and he was similarly silent on the question of whether he believed in letting each state establish its own definition of what is and what is not intoxicating liquor under the eighteenth amendment.

$274,000,000 NAVY PROGRAM APPROVED

Washington, Feb. 24 (INS)—America's newest naval building program drafted by the House Naval Affairs Committee was endorsed by Republican leaders today and adoption by Congress predicted.

Despite some dissatisfaction because the program does not bring American naval strength to parity with Great Britain, it was characterized as "a step in the right direction."

The building of 15 cruisers and one aircraft carried, all to be laid down in three years and completed in six at a cost of $274,000,000, would round out the present badly balanced navy, leaders said.

The door is left open for President Coolidge to carry out much of the Wilbur $740,000,000 program, it was declared, because authority exists under the 1916 act for the President to seek appropriations for nine destroyer leaders and three submarines.

"I think there is little question that the program will be adopted by Congress," said Speaker Longworth. "It probably is about all that could be expected in the present session."

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, who described President Coolidge last year to join the "big navy" forces, said the program was "a forward movement, but inconsistent with the President's ideas, because "it provides for 5 cruisers in three years and the President suggested 25 in five years."

$5,000,000 SOVIET GOLD IDLE IN NEW YORK BANKS

New York, Feb. 24 (AP)—Gold bars to the value of $5,000,000, belonging to the Soviet Bank of Moscow, are lying idle in the vaults of two New York banks because of a government ban against Russian gold. The gold sent here for the purpose of expanding trade between the Soviet and the United States, meanwhile is causing a loss to the Soviet of about $700 a day in interest. The ban was laid in 1921 when the Soviet came into power in Russia and repudiated that country's external obligations.

OPERA TENOR, 70, SAVES "FAUST" BY COMEBACK

Philadelphia, Feb. 24 (AP)—Some years back Giuseppe Agostini delighted audiences throughout Italy, allied States and other countries with his opera performances.

The old tenor, now nearing his 70th birthday, and no longer the operatic singer, but retired to the less romantic profession of teacher of music, saved a performance of "Faust" by returning to the stage to fill in for the regular lead and achieved a new success.

HINKLER ON 900-MILE HOP IN AUSTRALIA

Port Darwin, Australia, Feb. 24 (AP)—Bert Hinkler, who flew from England to Australia, left today on a flight of 500 miles to Concurry, Queensland.

After greeting his mother in Bundaberg, he plans to fly to Canberra to deliver a letter to Premier Bruce from the Australian high commissioner at London. Afterward he will fly to Melbourne and there his flight to the south will end.

4 THUGS HIDE ALL NIGHT IN BANK; GET $30,000

St. Louis, Feb. 24 (AP)—Four men held up the Wellston Trust Co. here today and escaped with $30,000. Hiding in the bank during the night the bandits surprised bank employes with pistols when they arrived. At the points of guns they forced them to open the vaults.

$6000 Fire Loss

Winchester, N. H., Feb. 24 (AP)—The house, barn and poultry building of Fred White were destroyed by fire today. Fire originated from an overheated pipe in the barn. One cow, several pigs and many hens and chickens were burned. The loss was $6000.

CLERK DROPS DEAD IN COURT

Reaching up to take some papers handed him by Judge Jesse W. Mecum in the fourth district court of Woburn today, Clerk Arthur E. Gage collapsed and a short time later was pronounced dead.

He was 70 years of age and had held the position of clerk in the district court for many years. Judge Mecum had just disposed of a Woburn traffic case and was handing the papers to the clerk when the latter was stricken. Police officers laid him on a table in the courtroom and a physician was summoned, who said death was probably due to natural causes.

Mr. Gage, who lived on Sherman place, Woburn, is survived by a widow and one daughter, whose home is in New Jersey. He was one of the most prominent citizens of Woburn, being treasurer of the Woburn Co-operative Bank and a director in the First Baptist Church.

Galveston Hotel Burned

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 24 (INS)—The suburban Hotel Royal, on one of the finest boulevards in suburbs of Galveston, was destroyed by fire early this morning. Two to safety.

Will Wales O. K. Sports Dress Shirt Over "Boiled" Article?

Bull, Eng., Feb. 24 (AP)—Great Britain today has a new hero in William J. Brittain, who appeared at a public dinner in a dress shirt of his own design.

The shirt is an open front affair, like a sports shirt with a flaring roll collar of semi-stiff material. It is worn without a tie.

"I have taken the lead to freedom," said Brittain, "I cannot understand how men have clinked for scores of years in starched armor."

Recently the Prince of Wales criticized the tyranny of the "boiled" shirt.

The "boiled shirt" population is waiting to see whether the Prince of Wales will follow suit.

GIRL, ON A DARE, SHOOTS BOY THROUGH HEART

Grand Haven, Mich. Feb. 24 (INS)—A bullet through the heart was the answer of Mary Pluomondon, 15, to the challenge of William E. Idsen, 17, rural high school student and football player, that she could not hit him with a 22-caliber rifle. The shooting was accidental, according to Coroner Henry J. Hoer, who said there would be no inquest.

BILL SLASHES N. E. RADIO

Washington, Feb. 24 (INS)—Sweeping changes in the radio broadcasting system of the nation will be forced if Congress enacts the new radio bill of the House merchant marine committee, Representative Davis (D.) of Tennessee said today.

The bill, extending the life of the federal radio commission for one year, requires the commission to divide stations and power equally among the five zones into which the country is apportioned. The 701 broadcasting stations now doing business are concentrated in a few big cities and States, he said.

The biggest change would be required in the first zone, including New York and New England. That zone now has 35 per cent of all radio broadcasting power, and this would be cut to 20 per cent under the bill.

STARTED CLEVELAND AND EDISON ON ROAD TO FAME

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 24 (INS)—George Urban, Jr., 78, died today at his estate in Cheektowaga. It was in the "log cabin" rendezvous on his estate that he conceived the idea of honoring Grover Cleveland, his friend, for President. Urban backed Thomas Edison morally and financially in Edison's early inventive days, before he became famous. Urban built the first roller flour mill established in the United States.

Los Angeles to Go to Cuba

Havana, Feb. 24 (AP)—The district Los Angeles is soon to visit Havana, the American embassy announced today. No date was given in the announcement.

C. P. Schoellkopf Dead

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 24 (AP)—C. P. Schoellkopf, retired Buffalo financier, whose wife some years ago was robbed of valuable jewelry, died in a New York hospital of pneumonia this morning, according to word received here.

B. & M. BILL IS ADVANCED IN HOUSE

The House today passed to a third reading the bill to amend the charter of the Boston & Maine Railroad so as to allow the building of the new North Station and wrea. The bill has passed the Senate.

Other bills advanced in the House were to act providing for the fixing of fees by the City Council with the approval of the mayor for licenses or permits in Boston, to relieve street railways from the commutation tax and providing for the entire payment by the State of the salaries of the public utilities commissioners, now partly paid by utility corporations.

OIL SLUSH FUND TRAIL LEADS TO CHICAGO BANK

Washington, Feb. 24 (1928)—The Senate's search for new testers of the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,050,000 Liberty bond "slush fund" centered today upon the account of the Republican National Committee in the Continental & Commercial Trust Company at Chicago.

Three things mass the Senate Public Lands Committee over the account with interest. First there was the $300,000 deposit in a single month, exactly three years after the 1920 campaign and when the Republican National Committee faced a huge deficit. Second, it was this bank to which the Dominion Bank of Canada shipped more than $2,200,340 in 1921 in behalf of the Continental Trading Company. Third, the Republican National Committee used this account to pay off debts incurred in eleven banks.

RUNNING IT DOWN

In its determination to learn whether the Republican committee shared largely in the Continental "profits," through donations from Harry F. Sinclair, the committee will call Will H. Hays, former Republican national committeeman some time next week. Hays will be a voluntary witness.

Meantime government agents will run down numbers of Liberty bonds once owned by the Continental which were later used by the Republican National Committee to pay off a $175,000 debt to the Empire Trust Company of New York.

They also will seek to learn whether any Continental bonds were used to swell the committee's deposits in the Continental & Commercial Trust Company at Chicago.

Voluminous testimony before the Teapot Dome committee now shows that so far as cold figures are concerned, the investigators are getting about to their "facing of the $3,000,000 Continental profits.

$800,000 TO O'NEIL

Those profits, represented by Liberty bonds, sprang from the company's purchase and resale of American Oil, on a contract guaranteed by Harry F. Sinclair, Teapot Dome lessee, and a few associates, and the committee has fairly definite clues to what became of something like $1,600,000 of the total.

The newest information has come from counsel for H. M. Blackmer, missing witness in the Fall-Doheny controversy trial. Karl C. Schuyler of Denver, told the committee Blackmer, who was once chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining Co., and one of those who guaranteed the Continental's contract, got $750,000 of the profits.

Blackmer has been in Europe for months, refusing to answer summons to testify.

One other large block of bonds, $200,000, has been traced to James G. O'Neil, another missing witness and former president of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. Testimony shows that he returned the money to his company after selling at least $200,000 of the bonds.

BAR AUTOMATIC LIGHTERS IN PERU FOR MATCH TRUST

Lima, Peru, Feb. 24 (AP)—Automatic lighters are forbidden in Peru because of the match monopoly granted to Sven Kserrell by the government.

Mine owners are protesting the edict and have petitioned the Ministry of Finance to permit the use of lighters in the mines as a measure of safety.

Quick Action Urged on Gold Star Plea

QUICK action by the United States Senate on the Butler Bill to provide for a Government-financed pilgrimage of Gold Star Mothers and wives to the graves of their sons and husbands buried abroad, is called for in hundreds of letters received by the Boston Evening American today. The House already has endorsed the measure.

Two paper and associated Hearst papers which sponsored the movement are commended by many. A few of them follow:

JOHN P. ENGLERT, superintendent of public buildings—Let us hope these words at Washington will not be as quickly as the House of Representatives did in regard to the Bonus Bill. It is a debt that America owes to the Gold Star Mothers. For the past ten years their prayers have been said for not such an opportunity, it will comfort their hearts to be able to be with their dead in the hour of their sorrow.

To the Boston Evening American and the other Hearst papers who sponsored this bill, a lasting vote of thanks by all American mothers should be registered.

HAROLD J. FIELD, special counsel, city of Boston—This bill now in the Senate enabling the Gold Star Mothers to make a pilgrimage across the ocean, at government expense, is indeed most worthy of nationwide endorsement.

The mention of their noble sons were supreme, and through the medium of the Butler Bill, America will give the great pleasure of sending these patriotic mothers to visit the resting places of their brave boys, who for years and years gave their all for the flag they loved so much.

To the Hearst papers who have fought so hard for this bill a tribute vote of thanks should be given.

CAPT. J. A. KITTINGER, U. S. N., Radiographic officer for the North Atlantic—The passing of that is the greatest thing that's happened yet. For those mothers who bore and bred the heroes that rest in the soil of France, the trip is little enough. Many of their lads passed on in the 10 years without realizing their dream of seeing that grave. The bill should pass along immediately.

CLEMENT A. NORTON, superintendent of Commonwealth Pier—The Butler bill, sponsored by the Hearst interests, deserves the highest commendation. I am happy to see the Gold Star Mothers and widows of our war heroes given the chance to at least view the graves of their loved ones. Much credit is due those who made the dream a reality.

EDMUND A. CONNELL, passenger agent for the Dollar Line—Another worthy cause. Many of these mothers have been waiting for years and years for this opportunity to visit the graves of their sons and husbands. Now they will surely feel some the chance to pay personal tribute to their offsprings who served the country so well. The widows, 10 years now dreaming what might have been, may derive at least a little comfort from a personal visit to the grave.

GRANT ESTATE FIGHT OPENS

Reference to appoint a receiver for the $200,000 estate of Robert E. Grant, confession, Judge Wait in Superior Court today ordered Grant's widow and her two children to refrain from transferring several hundred of stock involved in litigation brought by Mrs. Nellie L. Grant, the widow.

The widow sought appointment of a receiver and asked the court to set aside transfers of stock of the R. F. Grant Rubber Co. to Mrs. Harriet M. Clark, sister of Grant, and her two children, Harry Grant Clark and Katherine Clark.

Before making his will Grant suffered a stroke. Subsequent resentment of the will took place when she was not in possession of mental condition to understand the effect of the act, Mrs. Grant stated.

$125,000,000 BUILDINGS BILL SIGNED BY COOLIDGE

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—President Coolidge today signed the $125,000,000 public buildings appropriation bill, the largest measure of its kind ever passed by Congress.

The measure, $100,000,000 of which is to be spent throughout the country, includes the $50,000,000 for the construction of federal buildings, and $25,000,000 is to be spent in the District of Columbia for new government buildings.

BANDITS HOLD UP 2 BANKS

Kansas City, Feb. 24 (AP)—Two bandits, with two sub-machine guns, automatic shotguns and pistols, held up the City Bank here today and escaped with loot estimated at $20,000.

Despite the promiscuous firing by seven men who entered the bank, no one was injured.

One fled pellmell at R. C. Kemper, president, and commanded ten of employes and a dozen customers to lie on the floor. Five, with submachine guns and sawed-off shotguns, guarded the two doors.

At first the bandits forced tellers I obtain money boxes over the top of the cages. Then two went behind and scooped up money themselves.

Kemper said he had believed it impossible to rob the bank. All employes are in the open and most of them equipped with revolvers, and in each case is a burglar alarm.

St. Louis, Feb. 24 (AP)—Four men held up the Wellston Trust Company here today and escaped with $6,000, hiding in the bath during the night loop erected employees with pistols, then forced them to open the vaults.

5 FLEE, 1 HELD, IN HUB BREAKS

Police early today caught one alleged tobacco store thief and narrowly missed capturing five others. The six men figured in the attempted robbery of two stores, one in the South End and the other in State street.

Policemen Miles and Weston of East Dedham street division surprised two men in the act of entering the rear door of Edward MacDonald, 1047 Washington st., South End. They collared one, but the other got away.

Eliot and the other in State st.

In the other break, which was in the wholesale shop of Baker Bros., 225 State st., the thieves had forced an entrance by ripping away a screen and smashing a door glass when the appearance of policemen frightened them away.

High pressure Executives should eat more Macaroni*

Every time you eat Macaroni in place of meat, you put more snap into your business dealings. Dr. Daniel R. Hodgdon says: "Macaroni is especially good for people of sedentary habits as it can hardly be eaten too often—not in small portions, but as the main dish.

*What we said here about the value of Macaroni applies with equal force to Spaghetti.

Henry Mueller says—

"Whenever you hear people complain that 'macaroni is tasteless'—you may know that they have been eating cheap macaroni that is tasteless. That's one of the reasons I refuse to make Mueller's Macaroni cheap! Tasty macaroni, clean macaroni, light, tender macaroni costs more to make. You pay a few cents more for Mueller's. It's worth it!"

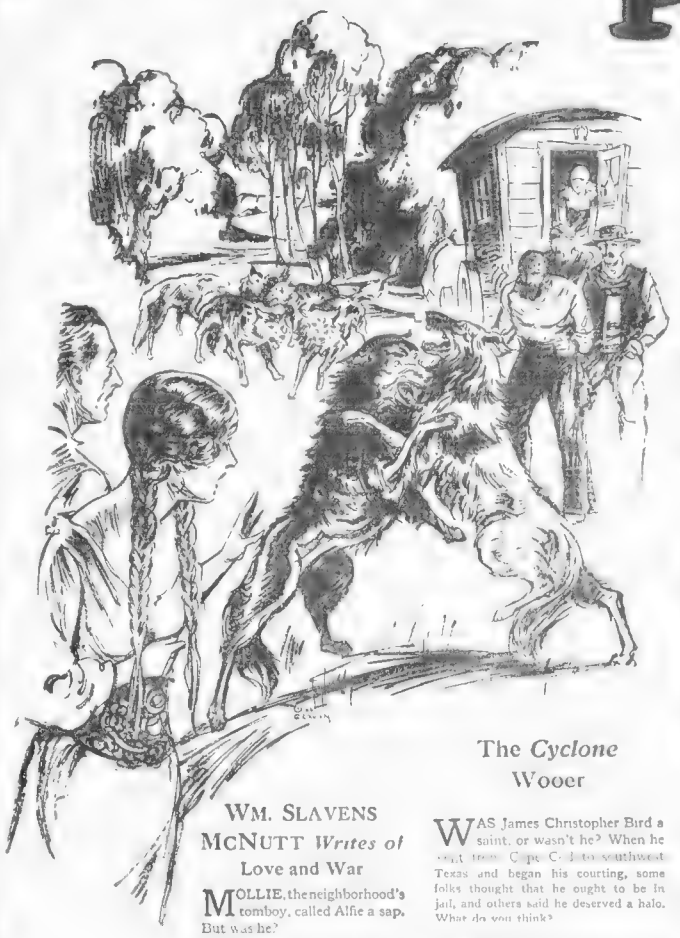
The OUTLAW of the PACK



HE was of a Danube breed of dogs, deep red, long haired—dogs trained to fight the wolves that preyed on their masters' sheep.

When born he proved to be a black-striped puppy, so different from the true breed that men and dogs turned against him. Saving his life with his fangs, he became the fighting champion of all the fierce dogs of the countryside

Driven out at last, he lured after him along the magical trail his handsome young master, and thereby pleased a girl. Along the road were gypsies' dogs for the outlaw dog to conquer—while for the handsome youth there was a choice to make between Stiva, the girl with corn-tassel hair, and Marga, the dark daughter of the Gypsy chief.

Out of the lives of these romantic persons and the dog, Konrad Bercovici in March McClure's weaves a story you will not want to miss

Here it is—the Real New England Flavor

We asked you New England women to show us exactly how you baked your beans—the way your grandmothers had taught you—real Boston Baked Beans, with the real New England flavor.

And now, here they are. We have followed your directions exactly. The same little California pea beans you like, plenty of pork, the right amount of molasses and seasoning, the oven-baking that cooks them through and through and bubbles up the thick brown sauce.

New England women tell us that we have caught the New England flavor exactly. Try them and see.

Here's the difference between Hydrox and its imitators

The difference is best seen in the knowing eye of this man. He is the Sunshine Bakerman.

He created, back in 1908, a delicious cream-filled chocolate biscuit sandwich . . . and called it Hydrox. There was no other biscuit like it.

Naturally, it is now treated with loving care by the Sunshine Bakerman today. Baking fine Hydrox has become a food-name tradition in the Thousand Welcome Homes.

If you don't want any of the imitations better say Sunshine Hydrox . . . it has no other name.

COOK-COOS by Ted Cook

THE CONGRESSMAN'S SON

The mysterious Mr. X—, traveling salesman, who came as a wolf in sheep's clothing into Congressman Frisby's life.

CHAPTER XIII

PERHAPS the time has come to introduce the letters that were exchanged between mother and Congressman Frisby during those trying days when she pleaded in vain for the right to share his name.

In these The X— affair—mother wrote from Lima, Ohio, as follows:

Dear Horace—

This is such a gloomy room. The walls are dingy, the windows small, the furniture shabby. Today I used up the gramophone needle. In one corner, on a small bed, or cot, sits a boy of nine years—our son—so pallid, so emaciated—his long lashes covering his pale cheek. As I write I am looking into the mirror. Sorrow, not time, has silvered my locks. My hands are clasped hopelessly in my lap, and my lips mute in silence. What are you going to do about it, Hy Boy?

(Signed) Anastasia.

A week later my mother received a simple note, saying—

Ann—

Well, all the boy wants is something strenuous, by the way of imprisonment, to set him on his feet. Wine and jellies—that's the thing for him—that will do it.

Horace.

That night my mother poisoned warm tears neath her closed eyelids.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

SAD as it may seem, a man does not lose his head over a woman because she possesses all the virtues and talents he admires in a wife, but because she possesses some alluring little trick of smiling out of the corner of her eye or wrinkling her nose or putting a baby-note into her voice.

He does not pick a wife because she is appropriate—but because she is appealing.

* * *

He does not fall in love with a woman because she is practical and domesticated and can make a dollar go a long way—but because she is feminine and cuddly and amusing—and can make his head go 'round.

* * *

The Big Idea seems to be to pick out something totally contrary to his "ideal"—and then TAME her!

* * *

No matter what type of woman he may elect to marry, he never has the slightest doubt of his ability to "improve" on Heaven's handiwork.

* * *

"Taming a wife" has been the most popular indoor sport ever since the first caveman came home with his little stone hatchet and started it. Every man in his own secret opinion, is a Petruchio—and every woman a Katharine, just spoiling to be tamed! His optimism is SUBLIME!

He will not hesitate to marry an exotic, glittering Lorelei Lee, and then try to transform her into a adoring, adoring, little Abie-in-the-fire.

He is not fazed for a moment at the prospect of annexing an high-strung, temperamental "Intellectual," and teaching her to concentrate her whole mind on nothing at all but eggs and keeping buttons on his pajamas.

Not he! Nothing daunts him! He will blithely wed a Broadway Flapper out of the latest Follies, with the perfect confidence that he can transplant her to Main Street, "break her in" to small town life and make her the leader of the Ladies' Aid Society.

* * *

Even the fact that a woman doesn't love him, never discourages or deters him. He can always "MAKE her" love him!

* * *

To select the kind of wife who would match his tastes, fit into his life, compatibize with his ideas, and make him happy just "as is," would be TOO easy and unexciting for any man.

He will make a twenty-mile detour around the girl who appeals to him commonsense, in order to find one who appeals to his imagination—something still peppy, capricious or difficult. Something to "TAME"!

* * *

That is why so many potentially fine wives remain "unplucked blossoms" on the family tree, while the Lorelei Lees go right on marrying, unmarrying and re-marrying.

* * *

When a man selects a business partner, he is infinitely careful to find somebody he can trust and work with; but when he takes a life-partner, he goes out of his way to double-cross himself.

No Constipation Need be Chronic!

In the pink of condition—to stay! That's what a little calcium would do for you. It is corrective. Trains the system to help itself. Actually establishes regularity.

Men who take harsh cathartics do themselves more harm than good. Or sickening salts. It isn't necessary. Calcium makes you all clean inside, clears up the skin, ends sluggishness and all fear of auto-intoxication.

Try it!

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium, and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them—the trial size for pocket is 10c. Or the family size, 60c.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

FOR NEURALGIA

BAYER ASPIRIN

You doubtless depend on Aspirin to make short work of headaches, but remember that it's just as dependable an antidote for many other pains! Neuralgia? Many have found real relief in a Bayer Aspirin tablet. Or for toothache; an effective way to relieve it, and the one thing doctors are willing you should give a child—of any age. Whether to break up a cold, or relieve the serious pains from neuritis or deep-seated rheumatism, there's nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin. Just make certain it's genuine; it must have Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

CHAIN STORE MEN MAKE MERRY

1928 SEEN AS BIG YEAR BY A. & P. MAN

Addressing more than 1200 persons at the annual joint dinner given by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company to its members of the North and South Boston branches of the Managers' Benefit Association at the Copley-Plaza, William J. Davidson, president of the company's New England division, predicted the cost of living would be decreased 3 per cent during the coming year by the company.

He said that the company had decreased the cost of living 8 per cent the past two years. Another speaker was W. Sydney Hillyer, representative of the National A. & P. Association. It was the eleventh annual dinner.

NEW ENGLAND ALL RIGHT

In his outline of the growth of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., President Davidson declared that he had seen the company enlarge from the method of a single store to its present size with a store in every community. "I was a man before you," said the New England president, "who at one time drove a white horse down the streets of Boston.

"I don't take much stock in this propaganda that a presidential year means bad times," Davidson continued. "The past year has been the most prosperous that this company has ever had. I have heard the question asked a great many times, 'what's the matter with New England?' The answer is that there is nothing the matter with it. What we need here is more optimism and salesmanship and an attitude among the people like that which exists in California. This is the spirit needed to make New England flourish."

THANKS MANAGERS

Davidson thanked the managers for the loyalty and co-operation they had displayed during the past year.

Louis W. Thompson, vice-president of the New England division, was toastmaster at the dinner, and Ralph Brown led the community singing.

The guests at the head of the table were Ronald L. Harry, director of sales, of the New England division; John D. Hunter, director of purchases; Paul A. Dochler, treasurer; Herbert L. Treynor, director of operations; Charles A. Armitage, secretary; Laurence W. Seeley, Richard Davidson and William S. Walker, general superintendent; F. Warren Huston, advertising manager; Franklin H. Smith, association representative; Arthur Bell, president of the North Boston and Fred McCarthy, president of the South Boston branches of the managers' association.

WILL PLAY SHAKESPEARE IN MODERN DRESS

Fritz Leiber and his Shakespearean repertory company, which made that had such a successful engagement in Boston at the Arlington Theater last September, are coming back.

On Monday, March 5, Leiber will return to the Arlington for one week. The opening bill is announced as "The Taming of the Shrew" in modern dress. This performance has proved one of the best in the Leiber repertoire.

This will mark the first time in this city for a Shakespearean performance to be given in this manner.

The company has been most successful in other cities of the country.

RUSSIAN PIANIST SCORES IN JORDAN HALL DEBUT

Alexander Kelberine, Russian pianist, was heard for the first time in Boston by an enthusiastic audience at Jordan Hall last night. His program included a scattering of Bach pieces, Beethoven's D minor sonata, Opus 31, No. 3, and numbers by Liszt, Medtner, Scriabine, Chopin and Liszt.

Three of the Bach works were arrangements by Sibali, including the Gavotte, which was rearranged from the French suite. The Russian audiences detained Kelberine for many extra pieces at the close of the concert.

NEW MOVIE TO STAR LAURA LA PLANTE

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Los Angeles, Feb. 24—The glowing account of tropical Honolulu furnished by Madeline Hurlock after her vacation there, caused me to wonder if Laura La Plante would ever come back to Hollywood. Madeline said she saw Laura basking in the warmth of the beaches and looking very well. But all good things must end, even vacations, Laura returns to Hollywood with her mother and sister in 10 days.

And, then? A wait until the iron gates at Universal swing open. Universal is shut down these days lighter than a drum.

Life at Universal City is dull, dead and empty. But even shutdowns cease and Universal expects to be awake, alive and active by April 1.

At that time Laura La Plante will be starred in "The Man Hunter," by Wallace and Fanny Hatton, with Wesley Ruggles directing. Earl Snell is also under contract to the company, and my understanding is that Miss La Plante's unit will be the first to start work.

Now that we know Warner Brothers to extend their activities to Europe, it is probable that some of their pictures will be made there. One of the first will be "The Florentine Dagger," and as that it must be typically German, the cast will be selected right in Berlin, with Curtis Bernhardt as director.

The experiment of making pictures in this way will be watched with interest by everyone. Some years ago Paramount built a most pretentious studio at Islington, near London. Climatic conditions were so bad that not one of the pictures made in England turned out well. Too many days not to suffer from fog clouds and the same drawbacks. So Paramount may set an example. Here's wishing them luck.

A long time ago Harry d'Arnaud wrote a comedy that he called "The Magnificent Flirt." He discussed it in a possible mood, but to those days he was only known as Charlie Chaplin's assistant. No one cared to take a chance. Today Harry is one of the most promising directors in the business and a studio established to take his own story and direct it, is his pleasure. That's exactly what he will do. "The Magnificent Flirt" will be Florence Vidor's next comedy. Jean de la Mur is writing the scenario.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Lita Grey Chaplin in a libel suit, concentrating her attention on Roy d'Arcy with whom she is linching. Lupe Velez making all the other Wampas baby stars jealous by having her picture taken with one arm around Arthur Brisbane and the other around Adolph Ochs, publisher of the New York Times. Put those two intellectual gentlemen enjoy the picture? Ann Rork give for the Wednesday afternoon luncheon something to talk about by being conspicuous for her absence. Lew Cody and George O'Hara giving Da orge Washington a break by celebrating their birthday on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot February 22. Jules Winsor in a lavender frock and hat, judging at Decorator lunch t on Washington's Birthday luncheon. That's all for today. Thank you!

Reading Should Resign

Attorney-General of Massachusetts Must Be NOT SO MUCH AS SUSPECTED

Atty.-Gen. Reading's admissions concerning his employment by the Decimo Club, Inc., make it imperative that he be separated at once from his exalted position.

Was it true, Mr. Reading was asked, that in the month of June last he accepted a retainer of $25,000 from the Decimo Club? His answer was "yes." And that this money came to him in the form of a check made out to another attorney? Yes. And has he received other moneys from the Decimo Club? Yes. Would he care to tell the Rules Committee in what amount? He would prefer not to tell.

It is NOT a question whether the Decimo Club is or is not "another Ponzi affair," a get-rich-quick game. Enough that the National Better Business Bureau had so stigmatized it, that the club had been stopped from doing business in Missouri and California, that it had been under official scrutiny elsewhere.

Police inspectors and newspaper reporters were investigating the organization here when, in June, Mr. Reading gave it a clean bill of health. Within a few days, as Mr. Reading now admits, he secretly received the first $25,000 of Decimo Club money.

These are the damning facts and all the rest is only subterfuge. Next to a place upon the Supreme Judicial Court, the office of attorney-general is in rank and dignity the highest that may be held by members of the profession. Its occupant must be ABOVE suspicion.

Representative Roland D. Sawyer, of Ware, using the plainest of English, said all that need be said when he declared that "there cannot be one law for 'Joe' Pelletier, 'Bill' Corcoran, 'Nate' Tufts and 'Dan' Coakley and another for Arthur K. Reading."

All of which this newspaper says with profound regret that the saying should be necessary. A fearless prosecutor, whose work for Middlesex County will be long remembered, one of the most brilliant young men who have come to the front in Massachusetts politics in a generation, Arthur K. Reading's connection with the mysterious Decimo Club has brought to an end his usefulness as a public servant. In the hour of his humiliation let us not be forgetful of his previous good record.

If he would spare his friends and well-wishers further distress, the attorney-general will RESIGN.

Otherwise, his impeachment by the House and his trial before the Senate of Massachusetts must proceed with all proper and reasonable dispatch.

Disease Carriers

Every Drug Addict Becomes a Potential and Usually an Actual Carrier of Disease

The connection between addiction to narcotics and health has not received sufficient general attention.

It is known that the effects of dope on its users are physically, mentally and morally deteriorating at rates of speed which are slower in the case of some drugs than of others, though always appalling.

In the case of the two forms of addiction now most common and most rapidly increasing—heroin and cocaine—this deterioration of the victim is cruelly swift, certain and complete.

The sturdiest bodies are wracked in a few months; the strongest wills and consciences are shattered almost as by a Borgia poison.

But the peril to health is not confined to the addict. Every addict, by reason of low vitality, becomes a potential and usually an actual carrier of disease.

We are society interested in this subject only from the selfish standpoint of the physical protection of its members from infections, it would be justified in doing its utmost to put a quarantine on the illicit traffic in narcotics.

"Fine Writing"

A lady in a sad predicament, and truly "out of luck," as cowboys put it, is thus described in a Scotch newspaper's novel:

> She wavered like a wind-blown reed on the river bank, and then, irresistibly, her gaze rose until her deep black orbs were gazing at him in awe-struck fear. Not a word passed between them, but his eyes seemed sucking out her being. She swayed towards him twice. She endeavored to put her hands to her face, but they were helplessly bound to her side by some dominating power beyond her control. With a low moan as of a wounded creature she sank on her knees, mastered, staring into his tense, cruel, sardonic face with a blank gaze, entirely helpless. Pitilessly he held her in his spell, his whole being concentrated upon her subjection, until at length, a far-away voice, which did not seem her own, broke whimperingly from her lips.

That is what some people, including, presumably, the writer of the quotation, would call "fine writing." It is an attempt to make WORDS take the place of IDEAS, and make exaggeration take the place of truth.

Avoid such writing if you write, avoid such talking when you talk, and avoid such methods if you prepare advertising.

Everybody writes, talks or prepares advertising. Many of us do all three.

The FINEST writing is the SIMPLEST writing. The most famous passage in the English language, perhaps, is made up of ten words, all very simple.

"To be or not to be; that is the question."

You couldn't make that MUCH simpler.

Another famous line by Shakespeare comes at the end of Hamlet's tragedy. "The rest is silence."

That is powerful because it tells all that is needed, compelling him who reads or hears the words to think and feel ON HIS OWN ACCOUNT.

Fine writing of a different, inferior kind you will find in Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner."

Powerful, good writing you will find in a hundred writers, and you will notice that all of them write simply and in no case try to do fine writing.

That which is truly fine comes of itself.

THERE IS JUST ONE CAUSE OF FAT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE used to be a line in a play that went, "Nobody loves a fat man." At least nowadays no woman wants to be fat.

There are all sorts of explanations, theories and remedies for fatness.

There is just one cause of fat, however. People should remember that they never put anything on their abdomen or hips in the way of fat that does not come through their mouth in the way of food.

There is a good deal of highbrow theorizing about disease and glandular troubles.

It is nice to talk about these things and it is less humiliating than to admit that we eat too much. But disease causes little overweight. Neither is glandular trouble prevalent. The real cause of fat is that we eat too much and live too much at ease.

Our ancestors were not troubled with obesity because they had to hustle around more.

They did not ride in automobiles. They walked. They hunted. They did housework.

If some of the ladies who complain of too much obese tissue would make a practice of taking the broom and sweeping the floor and getting down on their knees and mopping up the kitchen and doing the family wash, they would speedily recover their desire for slimness.

We don't take enough exercise and we eat too much. The candy habit grows and grows. No better cure for an enlarged abdomen can be found than bending over a washboard and no better cure for piano-shaped legs than plenty of walking.

If we would get down to the simple life and move about more and eat less our figures would show it.

Horses and dogs are healthy because they run around so much to find something to eat.

People are not healthy because they sit still and have somebody bring them something to eat.

Exercise for the sake of exercise is pretty hard to take, but exercise performed in the course of one's daily duties is not so hard.

One ought to arrange one's life as much as possible to wait on one's self. The necessary action of the body in attending to one's needs will have a great effect upon one's shape.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

MARION married an Idea.

Of Marion would deny this. She would say that she married Lon Campbell—American male—six foot one—professional lawyer. Her friends would agree with her. They are wrong. Marion married an Idea—the Idea of Her Ideal Man. And ever since she married Lon she has been busy making him fit that Idea.

Marion is a charming, brilliant, efficient, orderly, conventional woman. She has a genius for systematizing life and people. She would be an excellent nurse if you broke a leg and an excellent friend if you broke your heart. Provided, of course, that it was a nice, respectable break. But she has no use whatever for disorderly eccentricities or foolish blunders or silly dreams. She is sure that people can help things like that—and that they should be made to help them.

Lon is also brilliant and charming—but there the similarity between Lon and Marion ends. He is not orderly, he despises conventionality. He is a decent, honest chap—he realizes his responsibilities and attends to them loyally. But it must be hard on him, for spiritually Lon is a happy tramp. He has the soul of a foolish, delightful Airedale in his rangy body. He loves to run with the wind, and dream in the sun. He has streaks of great dignity alternating with puppy irresponsibility. He is lazy and untidy and will love any friendly stranger, without fear or reserve. Also, he sometimes needs to go off alone in a corner.

He's sentimental too, like any other Airedale. Loves to bay at the moon and moan to a violin. I dread to think what a rosy young parlor would do to Lon, were it not for Marion's watchful eye.

Of course, Lon's a terrible nuisance about the house. His possessions are always strewn from attic to cellar. He's never on time, and he's always doing things which are bad for him. Reads until all hours, gobbles his meals or omits them entirely. Forgets his rubbers, loses his expensive linen handkerchiefs or, like as not, uses them to clean his gun.

You can easily see what a cross he is to Marion and how she worries and fusses over him. Of course, she knew he was like that before she married him. But she was sure she could change him. It never occurred to her that Lon might be better unchanged—or that she had no right to change him. She's serenely satisfied that She Knows What Is Best for Lon and that God has appointed her to do the job. And, generally speaking, she does it. Definite people, with convictions like that, always have it all over scattered people like Lon.

There's another reason why Lon does as Marion wishes—a comical and yet pitiful reason. Lon is a sensitive, chivalrous soul—with sentimental notions which are common to his species. He believes profoundly that woman are weak, helpless creatures who mustn't be hurt by strong, ruthless men. So he makes tragic sacrifice of his own personality, rather than hurt Marion. And all the while his Airedale soul peers through the bars of his cage and wonders how it would seem to run free ones more chasing moonbeams over a Springtime hill.

Some women do that to some men.

New York Day by Day

O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—Thoughts while strolling: Those police sergeants in roaming flivvers. The buxom Irish nursemaids who resemble Queen Victoria. Postmaster John J. Kiely, once a postal clerk. Whatever became of monogrammed canvas bags for bowling balls? Sam Kingston who hires the Ziegfeld actors.

A jay-walking flapper makes face at a policeman and yells "Blah!" Hassard Short. The nickel-in-the-slot soda fountains. A self-conscious lodgeman in a plumed hat. Penrhyn Stanlaws, the illustrator, who built the Hotel des Artistes, gray skies and gray complexions.

Soft drink sign: "Knickles punches, juleps and smashes." The curiously bloodless faced gambler who is always in black. Enticing fruit shop windows—pears in golden syrup fat bothouse grapes, red bananas in glassine wrappers and imported dates. Yum, yum!

Ladies in those cloche hats that seem to hide everything but enormous earrings. The White Way wrecks who walk slowly about with male nurses. They've had their fun. Don Marquis resembles a moon-faced countryside curate. The ruddy glow and enthusiasm of ice skating rink patrons.

Ed Wynn's gray horse going to the matinee. The placid creatures with stylish stout lines who sell song books and thingumbobs along the curb. Girls who step from taxicabs and make up their faces before entering stores. Emil Coleman, the orchestra leader.

The dowdy lady who is supreme among fashion writers. The diminuendo whirr of an aeroplane. Life-sized toy bears that walk—$200. And toy electric trains as high as $500. William Slavens McNutt, the writer. The days grow longer. And nights more hectic.

Columbus Circle still resembling a battlefield. Half the soup box talkers stay on—preaching optimism, atheism, single tax and what not. Fifteen cent drug store breakfasts. And they are cutting into the coffeeria trade. Boom! Boom! An inch gain for the subway!

A LADY walked into a Fifth avenue department store. Near the entrance was a life-sized papier mache policeman in uniform. She inquired the price.

"It is not for sale," explained the grand floorwalking whatisit.

"Everything is for sale," she corrected—showing, my dears, she was a thorough New Yorker. And it was going to her home for $200. Just a toy for the kiddie.

THE custom of tipping cabaret performers grows herebouts. Several years ago this was haughtily spurned by performers as well as cabaret owners. But in several toney places lately I have seen a shower of coins and bills gratefully received. It is a continental custom. In Paris most cabaret performers work without salary and solely for tips.

A CHORUS GIRL in a vaudeville revue skit is listed as Miss Allo Oop and a chorus boy in a musical comedy is programmed as Earle Earle-Earle.

MY IMPRESSION is fancy names in the theater have spent their glamour. It is not going to be long before we welcome a Jenny Howe or a Gus Mcswatt.

AND the shortest name in New York is reported to be that of a fellow called Al Ap.

A NEW beggar racket. On Nassau street a shop supplies fountain pens for 25 cents each. The racketeers come up town, walk behind some gent and hold out one of the pens, saying: "You dropped this, mister." Sad to say many claim it and the pen looks as new, bright and expensive the reward ranges from 50 cents to what we used to know around the livery stable as a buck.
